Gleichen L. O. Lodge Officers Installed

On Tuesday evening, January 22, Gleichen L. O. L. No. 2218, held their regular meeting and installation of officers for 1918. Bro. Wm. T. W. Bates, D.M.; J. J. McLean, Rec. Sec.; Bro. Wm. P. Evans, Fin. Sec.; Bro. C. B. Hulman, Chaplain; P. Kelly, D.C.; H. G. Bass, 1st. Lee; Bro. E. J. Patterson, 2nd. Lee; Thos. Leadbeater, 1st. Com. Man.

Two members were advanced to the Royal Order degree. This degree was exemplified by Wm. T. W. Bates in his usual able manner.

After the business of the lodge the brethren and friends sat down to a most sumptuous luncheon to which all did ample justice. Too much credit cannot be given to the ladies who contributed in making this "Fourth Degree" such an unqualified success. Dancing was then indulged in to the wee sma' hours of the morning. Mrs. Trainer's orchestra on Calgary being in attendance.

During the evening H. R. Wor. Bro. Noble gave a short address outlining the origin and aims of the Loyal Orange Association of British North America.

The proceedings closed with the national anthem, "God Save the King".

Blind Creek Babblings

Lillian Moss was a Sunday caller in Carsland.

Geo. Moss is our representative in the council this coming year.

The dance at the School House Friday night was much enjoyed.

Tom Hatcher of Blackie was out here on business the last of the week.

At the meetings Mr. C. MacCormack was elected School trustee for the next 3 years.

The ice is on and sleighing good and the movement of wheat across to Canada is the order of the day.

Mrs. Fontenay will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. R. M. Mac, to her home in the States Sunday.

A full house greeted Rev. McDonald last evening. He having returned only yesterday from his trip to Biesterfeld early in the winter. Mrs. McDonald returned home and is progressing very favorably.

Prof. MacKenzie is pleased to announce that he will be at the Blind Creek school house the evening of February 1st with his wonderful rejuvenating machine. Please do come and make plans to keep this great mind and hand on hand. The Prof. has kindly consented to turn all proceeds to the Armenian fund.

The CALL agrees to do all of your printing as cheap as you can get it anywhere in Canada, and show you a proof before printing it.

Hockey Match and Dance-Fri.

French Wounded Emergency Fund

Vulcan vs. Gleichen

Tomorrow night—Friday—gives promises to be one of the most exciting and enjoyable evenings known in Gleichen in a long time as a big hockey match has been arranged for to be followed by a dance in aid of the French Wounded Emergency Fund.

A number of our citizens have generously covered all the expenses by private subscription so that the entire proceeds will go to the fund to provide the war-stricken people in the re-conquered parts of France with the necessities of life while their homes are in the re-making. It is not necessary here to urge upon the good people of Gleichen the necessity of aiding this cause nor to appeal to their generosity for they have proved that sufficient times without number.

The committee in charge intend that these entertainments shall be a success in every sense of the word and with that object in view learned that Vulcan has about the best hockey team in Southern Alberta, in fact about the only team that could give Gleichen's all-star team a game worth while seeing. The Vulcan boys were game and conceded to come all that distance to try something fast and help along the cause. Thus sharp at 8 o'clock tomorrow night the puck will shoot out and the biggest crowd of rooters ever seen at the Gleichen rink will have the time of their lives.

The match will be immediately followed by a dance in the Gleichen Opera House, where everything will be in readiness for the comfort and happiness of the big crowd that is sure to attend. The music will be supplied by Mrs. Trainer's 4-piece orchestra so that there can be no question of its excellency.

There is an urgent and vital need of your assistance to secure your tickets for the match and dance at once.

Gleichen Bowlers Win at Calgary

Sometimes people get very hot because we refuse to print items sent in without a signature. When we were young at the business we printed an item sent in without a name, and when we made a solemn declaration never to publish anything without knowing the writer's name.

Carseland

A new laundry building is in course of construction here and as soon as One Lung arrives we can all wear clean collars.

Our barber's new house is completed and furnished, and quite a few are beginning to wonder what he built it for.

Mother nature has solved the bridge question for Carseland and once more we are enjoying business and visits from our friends across the river.

Our church held a box social on Jan. 18th from which the proceeds were very satisfactory and everyone had a pleasant time.

Mr. Kruse one of our prosperous farmers is the owner of a brand new Studebaker car.

J. Doran of the Prairie Lumber Co. was down from Calgary on business last week.

If you don't think life on the Carseland school board is one continual round of pleasure just ask our trustees.

Rev. and Mrs. MacDonald have returned from Rochester, Minn., where Mrs. MacDonald underwent an operation. Their many friends are pleased to know that her health is much improved.

Lady C. was chaperon at a dance on the night of the 14th. Dancing ceased at midnight and after enjoying a bountiful supper everyone left for home except the chaperon who had to meet the train from Maple Creek.

While breaking colts last week Oscar Moorhouse got a nasty kick from one of the animals and is now in a serious condition. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery.

Winnie has left us and it will give much pleasure when she returns to our village.

Nels Lyons and sister are enjoying a visit from their brother.

coat, and a man's cardigan jacket; this last the merchant kindly tried on stating that the sick man for whom he was destined was of about his size. Lady Lou turned at the door, "Second street up, two houses to the right, eh?"

The slouch hat nodded. "Ah, so poor," he lamented. "Six little children under roof yet a Christmas."

Lady Lou's eyes were wet thinking of it. "Never a Christmas. Fancy it, Rob. We'll have to scare up a turkey and a pudding to-morrow."

Second up and two to the right.

The place was easily found. It did not look as poverty-stricken as they expected but they decided their family only occupied a few rooms.

A small boy ran up the steps as they approached and, though they called to him, he slammed the door in their faces.

After a long wait the door was opened by a wooden faced woman and leaving Robin on the steps, Lady Lou entered a bare little room.

Waiting no time in explanations she thrust the armful of clothing into the mother's arms and aid the basket of toys on the floor.

She was surprised at the stolid reception of the gifts. "Something for you all," she said rather breathlessly. "We'll send the dinner to-morrow." Then, as the woman remained silent. "Then man at the little shop two streets down said you had never had a Christmas. Is that really so? And you are Mrs. Owen, are you not?"

The woman nodded to both questions but made no offer to speak; she smiled a little and agreed, with another nod, to return the basket.

Lady Lou rejoined her partner in benevolence with rather a sombre face. "Of course I'm glad she wasn't effusive but somehow she made me feel apologetic, as if I ought to have offered to pay storage for that load; and she smiled in a funny way when I asked about them never having Christmases; it was a—yes, a contemptuous smile."

They sauntered down Main St. again waiting for a street car; back and forth they paced; evidently there was a steep somewhere and at length they were obliged through and decided to walk. As they passed the scene of their purchasing orgy they heard strange sounds proceeding from within, a confused babel of voices arose; among them they recognized that of the proprietor but the tone was no longer meek and low. After a moment a look of query and concern passed between them and they retraced their steps and softly opened the door. The shop was full of boys ranging from about six to sixteen.

"Ach, fader," cried one. "Yer git Ike a quarter for dot red sweater und mine goes to be—"

"Fader, fader," piped up the young ast. "I got nodding but der toy. You Ef to m'e cent on der toy, fader?"

"Und fer half a dollar you get der blue sweater, fader."

The bedraggled shopman, minus slouch hat, was waving excited hands.

"Pays, pays," he cried, "would rup your vader? Two cent piece on der toys and ten cent on der cloes. I git no more."

At this point, looking upon the gifts she had so lately bestowed with a full heart, Lady Lou could no longer contain her feelings. "Oh, you—how could you? How could you?" she cried glaring at the old man indignantly.

He cringed and in the succeeding silence Robin could be heard rustling the leaves of a note book. Presently he looked up and his grin was triumphant.

"So I've found you at last, Moses. What about Pete and Abe and the rest?" He caught his quarry's arm and held him firmly. "Easy, easy. Take your choice, Moses. Will you yet me get up a case about this con-game of yours, getting us to buy out your shop and hand the stuff over to your own family or will you give that evidence we want? I'm in the firm of Reed and Law. You know all about us. The case comes up in the morning. You identify the gang and you'll have no more trouble."

Moses was volatile in his assurances that he would be on hand, profuse in his thanks to Robin and tearful in his protests that they must have made a mistake in the address. They could still hear his wails of injured innocence as they walked down the street.

"Now," said Robin, "I'll telephone for some one to watch that duffer to-night. Gee, what luck! It's great."

"It's horrible! Abominable! It spoils my faith in human nature and the worst of it is I want to laugh I must be shallow and cynical, Robin, or I would never laugh at such a thing—the pathetic way that old wretch said they had never had a Christmas!"

Robin frankly roared. "Well, of course, Lady Lou, Christmas is not exactly a Jewish institution."

She stopped short and started at him. "Jewish! Rob! Why—Then she WAS contemptuous. Oh, Oh! She thought I was a fool."

Never having seen her humble before he thought the moment propitious. He drew her into the shadow and kissed her, very deliberately and very long. She made no attempt to release herself, but when she could speak she murmured, "I'm almost afraid to offer any one a Christmas present now, but I think you said something about five feet three—"

Mountaineer Blocks Wireless

Wireless operators on board vessels stationed west of Cape Otway, at the southern point of Australia, have observed repeatedly that it was impossible to communicate with vessels situated in the port of Melbourne. This is supposed to be due to the fact that the mountain, which forms the cape, contains large quantities of minerals, which absorb the electric waves.

Aiding Blind Soldiers

Calgary News-Telegram:

The following letter was received on January 11th by the honorary secretary-treasurer of the Blind Soldiers:

"Dear Mrs. Houltan,—Some time ago Mrs. George Gow, of Rosebud, offered a tea cloth to be used for the benefit of the Blind Soldiers' Fund."

"We have now sold all the tickets and have fifty dollars, which I am sending to you by money order.
There is a boy in England that used to live here. He is totally blind, and is in England at the present time. He is a very poor boy, and the people around here thought it very nice to send something to him.
His name is Frank Vigar; he used to live in Gleichen. I have not got his address, but think it would be on record. We are all very anxious to help the Blind Soldiers' Fund."

"Hoping this little bit will help to cheer up some of the boys."
(Signed) H. H. STUTON
"Blind Creek, Alta."

Our readers will be interested to learn that the honorary secretary-treasurer has followed the career of F. Vigar with interest, as he was at one time a pupil of Western Canada college, and known to many in Calgary, as a bright, clean lad, and one who was very well liked. After his admittance to St. Dunstan's Hotel, His name was on the list of those having passed the typewriting test last September. For the benefit of readers of this article it may be well to explain that the typewriting test is a very simple one. You pass before he is entitled to a typewriter.
It consists of a business letter and a full page essay (with headings) in one hour, with no more than one error and three spelling mistakes. Frank Vigar, of the 31st Canadian Battalion, entered St. Dunstan's in March, 1917. It is gratifying to his credit that that he has done so well in the time he has been in the Home.

He is one of many residents of The New-England Hall. In this letter, and also whatever is in their power to help the Blind Soldier fund. There are at present in St. Dunstan's Hotel and its annex, 516 men, all totally blinded and disabled. Many of them have been so badly injured in battle that they have lost one or both eyes and are unable even to handle. Already many have been fitted and equipped to start whatever career they have trained in. 318.

We regret to learn of the death of James A. Naylor on Sunday at Rochester, Minn. His remains are on the way to Gleichen and the funeral may take place today.

A social dance will be given in Opera House on Friday, February
8th. Get ready for a good time.

The Women's Institute meet tomorrow evening at 8 P.M. at the home of Mrs. D. L. Brerton at 3 o'clock. Subject, "Vacant Lots".

The Best Farm or Ranch Car

YOU would replace your "general utility" team with a powerful, sturdy, Ford car at once, we believe, if you but figured the matter out carefully.

The Ford is especially suited to western conditions and your needs.
It is equal to rough roads, big loads and long distances. These are the very tests to which you will put your car.

A Ford will run your errands for repairs, greases, mail and countless other necessities quickly and cheaply. It will save you weeks of time and money. It will be one of your best investments. It will make prairie life more enjoyable. You need a car and need it badly. The Ford is the utility car for the Western Farmer.

East Arrowwood

Ed. Note.—The past few weeks The Call office has been a very busy place and frequently we have had to make a direct appeal to our readers to catch the news items. Some errors could not be avoided. In our last issue items of two correspondents from Arrowood Creek got mixed and as each correspondent had a different name it was impossible to ascertain which belonged to whom. The editor is sorry for this and is making a good fellow of himself and he does not relish the idea. He has not privileged us with the public use of his name, but he supposes us with the item. The school W. L. Brown, who is the popular school teacher, who also knows supplies most of the Arrowood spy news. He being a very sensitive young man has asked that this explanation be made.

The largest crowd that was ever on Salter Lake was on the ice Sunday afternoon when approximately 50 students were present in the art of skating. It was amusing to watch the "pusses" on skates. They, with their fantastical, slow, even stride formed a contrast to the dashing, ambitious, whirlwind of skating of the younger generation. Miss Lillian Irwin, Mrs. Paul Lehman and Howard Salter, as they alone, made skating possible. The boys recruited a road scraper and went to work clearing the snow away. The scraper was especially useful in clearing the headland. There was much talk of building a club house near the lake. May it be.

It would add greatly to the pleasure. All present Monday night had an extra good time. It was an ideal night on ideal ice. We can make a distance to enjoy the skating. We will have to give it to Spear when it comes to skating.

A program for the public will be given by the Little Academy Friday evening, Feb. 1st. The program promises to be interesting.

Besides the dialogues, speeches and songs there will be a hotly contested debate on the question "Review of the world's problems.

Any sociable would be helpful to the community," Ross Cottrell, Wilber Brubaker and Lalah Irwin, are holding the question. Those supporting the negative are Lottie Irwin, Harry Pobet and Carl Orlin. The meeting will be a social affair.

There is a concern that a gathering of interest in East Arrowwood. The "Lost Troumers," shows some of the problems that a school boy has to face. The characters in "Little Angler" prove to be quite different from those in "The Troumers."

"The seven days of the week," by seven girls is well worth seeing. The first box school ever given in East Arrowwood will be given immediately after the program. Girls don't forget your boxes. When you come to the school on the evening, the proceeds of the sale of the boxes will be spent in starting a school library in which the school is handicapped, considerately, without. For this reason it is believed that the community will respond generously. Remember
